HABUL

(gor gor kore mukhosto bole jae)

In a petrol engine the exhaust port is smaller than the inlet port because of two reasons. a.) The torque increases with with more air b.) To avoid auto ignite since the exhaust port is gets heated up even more than the combustion temperature inside the cylinder.
Apart from the spark inside the cylinder no other source of heat is desired....

(Boss hai tulchhe)

....so in order to prevent the engine from knocking, the exhaust port is kept smaller.
